Dear participants:

The 6th International Conference on Artificial Intelligence and Security (ICAIS 2020) will be held in Hohhot, from July 17 to July 20, 2020, as originally planned. Considering the impact of COVID-19, updated relevant matters are hereby listed as follows:

1. The conference will be conducted in a combined, online and offline, mode. The main venue will be set up in Hohhot, with live academic reports simultaneously broadcasted online.

2. We will be strictly abiding by the regulations of epidemic prevention issued by the government, and will control the number of participants present at the main venue.

3. Priority to attend the on-site conference will be given to the following participants:
    a. Invited speakers by the conference (no foreign speakers this year)
    b. Workshop chairmen with more than 10 registered papers
    c. Authors who need to make on-site reports
    All other participants are encouraged to engage in discussions and mutual communication, online.

4. Participants interested in on-site attendance, on-site report, and online report, should please fill out the online "On-site Attendance/Online Report Application Form", by 12:00 p.m. of June 25, 2020. The application form link is:

5. The conference organizing committee will notify approved applicants for on-site attendance, via an email on June 30, 2020. We urge applicants to check their mailbox regularly, as only those approved by the conference are allowed to attend the on-site venue. Those who apply for the online report option, will have their presentation arranged and set by the organizing committee.

Other participants do not need to fill out the application form, and could just attend all aspects of the conference, online, and on time.

We hope you understand all the restrictions incumbent upon us during that special Covid-19 period, as we strive to keep promoting advanced academic communication within the confinement of your safety and wellness. Thank you.
